

Top 5 Pocket Knife Brands for the Outdoorsman

Pocket knives are an essential tool for any outdoorsman. They are versatile and can be used for a wide range of tasks, from cutting rope to preparing food. However, with so many brands and models available, it can be challenging to know which knife to choose. In this article, we will be discussing the top 5 pocket knife brands for the outdoorsman.

1. Benchmade

Benchmade is a well-known knife manufacturer, famous for making high-quality knives that are made in the USA. They offer a wide range of pocket knives designed specifically for outdoor use, including the popular Griptilian and the 940 Osborne. The Griptilian features a comfortable grip and a durable stainless steel blade, while the 940 Osborne is a little fancier with a smooth handle and a partially serrated blade. Both knives are designed to handle tough outdoor conditions, making them a great choice for any outdoor enthusiast.

2. Spyderco

Spyderco is another popular pocket knife builder, known for its unique designs and high-quality construction. The company has been in operation since 1976 and has amassed a cult-like following over the years. Spyderco offers a range of pocket knives, including the popular Endura and the Delica. The Endura features a robust, lightweight construction and is designed with a partially serrated blade. The Delica has a clean design with a standard blade and is ideal for less rugged outdoor activities such as camping or hiking.

3. SOG

SOG is a brand that has been producing high-quality knives for over 30 years, and they have a reputation for making knives that are both rugged and reliable. Their pocket knives are no exception, with options such as the Flash II and the Twitch II. These models are designed to be carried easily in your pocket, making them an ideal choice for the outdoorsman on-the-go. They are also made from high-quality materials, such as AUS-8 steel, making them incredibly durable and long-lasting.

4. Kershaw

Kershaw is another well-known pocket knife brand and has been in operation since 1974. They offer a range of knives designed for outdoor use, including the popular Cryo and the Leek. The Cryo is a great budget option, featuring a stainless steel blade and a durable handle. The Leek, on the other hand, is a little fancier, with a sleek design and a unique blade profile designed for precision cutting.

5. Gerber

Gerber is a brand that has been around for over 70 years and is known for producing quality knives that can withstand tough outdoor conditions. Their pocket knives are no exception, with options such as the Paraframe and the LST. The Paraframe features a simple design and a partially serrated blade, while the LST has a tactical look with a standard blade. Both models are incredibly lightweight and are designed to be carried easily in your pocket.

Conclusion

Pocket knives are an essential tool for any outdoor enthusiast, and choosing the right brand and model can make all the difference. In this article, we discussed the top 5 pocket knife brands for the outdoorsman, including Benchmade, Spyderco, SOG, Kershaw, and Gerber. Each brand offers a range of knives designed for outdoor use, with options to suit every budget and preference. So, whether you are an experienced outdoor enthusiast or just starting, investing in a high-quality pocket knife is a smart choice.

References

- pocket knife